Copyright is owned by the Author of the thesis. Permission is given for a copy to be downloaded by an individual for the purpose of research and private study only. The thesis may not be reproduced elsewhere without the permission of the Author.
PUTTING ‘HUMPTY’ TOGETHER AGAIN:
A TESTIFYING OF THE EMBODIED NATURE OF HUMAN EXPERIENCING

A thesis presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Psychology at Massey University, Palmerston North, New Zealand.

Brian William Tuck
2009
ABSTRACT

The complex functioning of the human body produces the biological, historical and environmental contingencies of lived existence. These experiences of embodiment are chiasmic, dialectical and dialogical, and underpin the narrative dilemmas we create through the storied nature of our attempts to make sense of them. In testifying my own embodiment this autobiographical form of sensual scholarship emphasizes the subjective basis for my body’s psychology. By developing the complicating action segments of my life story told through interview data into a chronologically-ordered and textually-layered account of personally significant memories, I craft a story of my panicking body. My upbringing was influenced by discourses that reinforced parental and family affiliation at the expense of my feeling body. Unravelling my need to exercise as a contingency of this affiliation provides retrospective meaning to the distress my panicking caused. Situating my feelings, thoughts, emotions and actions within the broader constraints of my family’s history, community, religion and culture reveals the contingent nature of my embodiment. Describing the shifting contingencies of a life lived since my upbringing in the small, rural town of Inglewood, New Zealand, provides the opportunity to recognize and to re-align the dialectics of identity that help to make up my body’s psychology. Juxtaposing this narrative meaning-making are my revelations of experiential integration achieved through the flow of exercise. Understood as an extension of my body’s fundamental sensuality, this evolutionally-refined capacity for engagement underpins my lived experiencing. Together these sentient and reflexive forms of testimony confirm the inherence of my sensuality and the circumstance of self-hood, and invite you, the reader, to explore the workings of your own body. By revealing the sensual and symbolic strands of my embodiment this story of human contingency reveals something of the fleshy consciousness that we all share, not by speaking for anyone else, but by calling attention to the taken-for-granted nature of its unfolding. By arguing for a psychology more relevant to lived experiencing, my thesis questions the body of Western science and, in particular, psychology’s version of it. Articulating the felt nature of my experiencing situates my mind back in my body and, in doing so, fleshes out its psychology. While the insights shared here are personal, the relevance of the felt-body is found in the ways it becomes discoursed and narrated.
The content that illness stories offer is valuable for a variety of purposes: for the teller’s reordering of her life story, as guidance to others who follow, and to provide caregivers with an understanding of what the ill experience. But the body testifies in excess of all these contents. Illness stories are told by bodies that are themselves the living testimony. (Frank, 1995, p. 140)
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

JB, thanks for the time, effort, energy and humour you put into our interactions.

Robbie, thanks for our conversations about bodies, panic, discourse, Foucault, and other related matters.

Mandy, my thanks again, for the suggestions and encouragement that helped make this testimony possible.

Andy, thanks for the support, and your flexibility, that have made this PhD journey enjoyable.

To my family, this story of my body is for you. May its reprieve be a source of insight and encouragement to those of you who may need it.
CONTENTS

List of photographs viii
Preface ix

SECTION ONE: THEORISING THE BODY

Chapter One. A Chiasmic Body

   The phenomenological body 1
   The chiasmatic body 6
   The homo sapient body 9
   The Merleau-Pontian body 11
   The reflexed body 13
   The sensuous body 15
   Summary 18

Chapter Two. A Dialectical Body

   The physical body 19
   The historical body 22
   Psychology’s body 24
   Summary 27

SECTION TWO: RECOUNTING THE BODY

Chapter Three. A Dialogical Body

   Narrative research 28
   Narrative as metaphor 32
   Dis/embodied narrative 34
   Psychology as narrative 38
   Autobiography as phenomenological narrative 39
   Summary 43

Chapter Four. An Autoethnographical Body

   Theoretical framework 44
   Data collection 45
   Ethics 48
   Researcher 49
   Embodied reflexivity 51
   Summary 53
SECTION THREE: FLESHING OUT THE BODY

Chapter Five. Re-membering my Body

   Early days                                  55
   My father’s shadow                           61
   Incense and agony                            69
   Something is wrong with me                   77
   Cloak of secrecy                             83
   Leaving home                                 89
   The death of God                             96
   Jill                                        100

Chapter Six. Re-minding my Body

   Letting go                                  106
   Giving myself the run around                109
   Contingency, trust and reassurance          116
   Cognito ergo sum timidus                    122

Chapter Seven. Re-bodying my Mind

   An integrated body                         125
   A flowing body                              128
   A mindful body                              133

SECTION FOUR: TESTIFYING THE BODY

Chapter Eight. Re-living my Body

   A disciplined body                         137
   An action-oriented body                    142
   A contingent body                          146
   Coda                                        152
   Summing up                                  155

Chapter Nine. Shared Embodiment

   An ethical body                             158
   Summary                                     162

Chapter Ten. Conclusion

   Re-Negotiating the Body                    163
   Summary                                     170
Postscript. 171

References. 175

Appendices.

Information Sheet 192
Participant Consent form 194
Authority for the release of Tape transcripts 195
Letter of Ethical Approval 196
PHOTOGRAPHS

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Figure</th>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>Me</td>
<td>54</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>Dad and I</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>Mums and Dads</td>
<td>69</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4</td>
<td>Sixth form</td>
<td>77</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>The backyard boys</td>
<td>89</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6</td>
<td>A Theologian</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7</td>
<td>One of my favourite photos</td>
<td>100</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8</td>
<td>Two very tired boys</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>Under 12’s</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10</td>
<td>By a nose</td>
<td>109</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>Into the unknown</td>
<td>116</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>12</td>
<td>Another favourite</td>
<td>123</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>13</td>
<td>Off to school</td>
<td>158</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>