ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to acknowledge my gratitude to my supervisor Professor W.H. Oliver for his initial suggestion of the broad topic from which this thesis developed and also for his useful advice and influence both on the research and the subsequent drafts. I also wish to express my grateful thanks to the staffs of the General Assembly Library, the Alexander Turnbull Library, the Wanganui Public Library and the Massey University Library for their very able assistance and willingness to supply and obtain any material that was required. Special acknowledgement is also due to the staff of the Wanganui Court House for allowing me access to their early records and for providing me with facilities for work on them. My thanks must also go to Mr D.Cimino, the curator of the Wanganui Museum, for his assistance and also to several friends for their helpful and often timely suggestions. Finally I must acknowledge the capable work of my typist Mrs. Helen Burt.
