Copyright is owned by the Author of the thesis. Permission is given for a copy to be downloaded by an individual for the purpose of research and private study only. The thesis may not be reproduced elsewhere without the permission of the Author.
Making as a tool of self-examination and search for meaning:
Sifting through remaining residue as the tide of faith ebbs away

An exegesis presented with exhibition as fulfilment
Of the requirements for thesis:

Masters of Fine Arts
At Massey University, Wellington, New Zealand

Shane Michael McGrath
2010
Table of Contents

Title Page 1
Table of Contents 2
List of illustrations 3
PROLOGUE & ABSTRACT 5
INTRODUCTION 6
1. BEGINNING: KNOW THYSELF 8
   INTENTIONS 9
   THE BODY & SOUL 10
   PREVIOUS WORK 11
2. INTENTIONS & RESPONSIBILITIES 15
3. THE NARRATIVE 17
4. CATHOLICISM & THE LAPSED 20
   THE CHURCH: FINDING MY VOICE 21
   MATERIALITY & SCALE 23
5. HUMOR 27
6. THE BOAT 29
   TRANSFORMATION 30
   MAKING & INTUITION 34
7. INVERSION: BOAT BECOMES ROCKET 39
   RAMP & JACOB’S LADDER 41
8. KITES 45
9. ESCAPISM THROUGH FLIGHT 47
10. FAILURE: OVERLOADING, GRAVITY, COMMUNICATION 50
11. CONCLUSION 54

References 55
Image Credits 58
Bibliography 62
List of illustrations

Fig. 1. Regressive Action #1, Author, 2008  12
Fig. 2. Regressive Action #1, Author, 2008  13
Fig. 3. Matthew Barney, The Goodyear Waltz, 1995  18
Fig. 4. Damien Hirst, Mother and Child, Divided 1993  19
Fig. 5. Simon Starling, Shedboatshed, 2005  19
Fig. 6. Andre Serrano, Piss Christ, 1987  21
Fig. 7. Robert Gober, Untitled, 1997  21
Fig. 8. An Abiding Notion, Author, 2009  24
Fig. 9. An Abiding Notion, Author, 2009  25
Fig. 10. La nona ora, Maurizio Cattelan, 1999  27
Fig. 11. Boat as when found, Author  29
Fig. 12. Bark of St. Peter, pictograph from catacomb  30
Fig. 13. Nave, English Reform Church  30
Fig. 14. Man in a Boat, Ron Mueck, 2002  31
Fig. 15. Funeral of an Old Russian Nobleman, Heinrich Siemiradzki 1883  32
Fig. 16. Boat interior, Author, 2009  34
Fig. 17. Boat with tent test, Author, 2009  35
Fig. 18. Diagram of Gusmao’s Passarola, date unknown. Lithograph.  36
Fig. 19. De Lana’s Flying Boat  37
Fig. 20. Pierrot leaves for the moon  38
Fig. 21. Kai Ka’us, King of Persia.  38
Fig. 22. Currachs galore - Galway West

Fig. 23, Author, Rocket/Boat photoshop test. 2009.

Fig. 24, 1934 Buck Roger 25th Century Rocket Ship, tin toy.

Fig. 25, V1 ramp

Fig. 26, Author, Marquette of Behind everything beautiful

there is some kind of pain, 2009. Mixed media.

Fig. 27, Vladimir Tatlin, Monument to the Third

Fig. 28, Marc Chagall, Jacob’s Ladder, 1931-1939

Fig. 30, Marconi Kite. George Kemp, formally

Marconi’s Chief Assistant

Fig. 31, Author, A hymn is like praying twice.

Kites in studio, 2009

Fig. 32-35, Author, Behind everything beautiful is some kind of pain. 2009

Fig. 36, Author, Addition of cargo, 2010. Drawing.
PROLOGUE

I have a church but it is empty.
I have a boat that does not float.
I have kites that crash to the Earth.
Do I own a soul, one that feeds my creative ability?
If I do, can lose it?
Can I not throw it away?

ABSTRACT

At the commencement of this thesis I saw myself standing at the outer limits of my knowledge with my nose pressed against a wall of demarcation. This wall was built from my willingness to tolerate systems of control in silence and from my unwillingness to make my beliefs and personal convictions known. I set out at the start of this journey with two intentions. I want to raise my voice because I didn’t want to pretend about my faith anymore. And for the first time use my art practice as a mouthpiece to tell these truths.