“Displaced Rhythms and Harmonic Dissonance provides a discussion of environmental practices and identity, highlighted by exploration into the expanded fields of music, noise and sound production, tattoo, sculpture, video, and performance.”

David William Matthews
Master of Fine Arts Research Exegesis
2017
Bibliography.

Mteara, J. (1997). The researcher as the first paradigm.

Fig. 1.

The Rev. Joseph Matthews, outside St Saviours Church, Matthews Ave, Kaitaia, 1890.
References.

17. Te Rarawa claims settlement act 2015. Downloaded on 05/10/2017 from

Fig. 2.
The Rev. Joseph, and grand-daughter, Eva Matthews, Kaitaia, before his death in 1895.
Fig. 3.

The Awanui Lintel, Totara carving, Te Rarawa iwi, Kaitaia.
Fig. 7.

Fig. 4.
David Matthews, carved swamp Pohutukawa instrument, 2016.
Fig. 5.
David Matthews, carved Totara instrument, 2016.

Fig. 6.