Copyright is owned by the Author of the thesis. Permission is given for a copy to be downloaded by an individual for the purpose of research and private study only. The thesis may not be reproduced elsewhere without the permission of the Author.
Success stories: Experiences of non-English speaking background students in an English-medium tertiary programme

A thesis presented in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Education at Massey University Palmerston North, New Zealand

Gayleen Evelyn Taylor

2010
Abstract

Increasing numbers of non-English speaking background (NESB) students are enrolling in English-medium education programmes. The fact that these students are generally successful in their studies is seldom mentioned in academic literature. It is hoped that information from this study will fill a gap in recent literature on this topic.

This study investigates and celebrates the experiences of four NESB students who have successfully graduated from an English-medium programme which delivers the Diploma of Teaching (Early Childhood Education). The key question investigated is – what enabled these students to achieve in an education setting so different from their home language, culture and philosophy? Factors such as motivation and support structures were also investigated.

Within a qualitative approach, narratives were used to record and retell participants’ stories. A credit approach was also employed. This fits in with sociocultural theory, which values a student’s contribution to the learning experience. Contextual features also had a role to play in participants’ success, so links to ecological theoretical perspectives are made. The influence of motivation in success, as acknowledged in social cognitive theory, is also discussed.

Participants were clear about the role of motivation in their academic success. Intrinsic motivation was found to be particularly important; being influenced by a range of factors. The factors identified included the funds of knowledge participants brought to their study, their development of self-efficacy, a sense of agency and self-regulatory practices. It is proposed that these factors have fundamental relationships with each other by influencing achievement and mastery in the other factors.

Support systems were found to play a crucial role in participants’ success. These support systems were found to be the family, the institution, colleagues and classmates. Governmental agencies also were accessed to provide financial support. Recommendations and implications from the study affirm the importance of professional development for teachers of NESB students. In particular, understanding topics relating to funds of knowledge, self-efficacy, agency and self-directed learning were noted as relevant for teachers of NESB students.
Acknowledgements

It is with deep appreciation and respect that I wish to honor those who shared their stories so willingly with me. Thank you to those known as Li An, Laxmi, Bobby and Mariana in this study. They are representative of the many NESB students that I have had the pleasure to travel with on a small part of their learning journey. I celebrate your achievements!

Thank you also to those who cheered me on with encouragement and wise advice. In particular, Penny Haworth, Kimberly Powell, and Judith Watson who gave clear and helpful guidance. My ever patient husband, my family, colleagues and friends were also supporting and believing in me – thank you to each and every one of you.
Table of Contents

Abstract i

Acknowledgments ii

Table of Contents iii

Chapter One: Setting the scene 1

1.1 Introduction 1

1.2 Aims of the study 2
   Background to the study 2

1.3 Justification of the study 4

1.4 Who are NESB students? 6

1.5 The institutional context 6

1.6 Summary 7

Chapter Two: Literature Review 9

2.1 Introduction 9

2.2 Experiences and beliefs of NESB students 10
   Language 10
   Culture 11
   Educational context 12
   Gender issues 15
   Differing understandings regarding early childhood pedagogy 17

2.3 Concerns and issues for teachers of NESB students 18
   Professional development and diverse learners 18
   Classroom practices 22

2.4 The role of context 24
   Sociocultural perspective 25
   Ecological perspective 27
   Social cognitive perspective 30
   Dispositions for learning 33

2.5 Summary 34
Chapter Three: Methodology

3.1 Introduction 36
3.2 Research questions 37
3.3 The qualitative approach 38
3.4 Why narrative? 39
3.5 Investigative procedure 40
   Procedure 40
   The participants 41
   Pilot interviews 42
   The interviews 43
3.6 Ethical considerations 44
3.7 Data analysis 45
3.8 Researcher position 46
3.9 Summary 50

Chapter Four: Narrative Results

4.1 Introduction 51
4.2 Li-An: Summary of Findings 53
   Educational discontinuities 53
   Language 53
   Academic expectations 53
   Pedagogy 54
   Culture and context 54
   Overcoming discontinuities 54
   Practical strategies 54
   Making connections 55
   Perseverance 55
   Intrinsic motivation 56
   Funds of knowledge 56
   Self-efficacy 56
   Agency 57
   Self-regulated learning 57
   Extrinsic motivation 58
   Economic 58
   Support systems 58
4.3 Laxmi: Summary of Findings

4.4 Mariana: Summary of Findings
Self-regulated learning 72
Extrinsic motivation 72
Field-based programme 72
Stability for the future 73
Support systems 73
Family 73
Teacher educators 73
Welcoming environment 74
Classmates and colleagues 74
Macro support 74

4.5 Bobby: Summary of Findings 75
Educational discontinuities 75
Language 75
Academic expectations 75
Pedagogy 75
Culture and context 76
Overcoming discontinuities 77
Practical strategies 77
Making connections 77
Perseverance 77
Positive attitude 78
Intrinsic motivation 78
Funds of knowledge 78
Self-efficacy 78
Agency 79
Self-regulated learning 79
Extrinsic motivation 80
Family 80
Support systems 80
Family 80
Institution 80
Teacher educators 81
Classmates 81
Colleagues 82
Macro support 82

4.6 Summary 83

Chapter Five: Discussion 84

5.1 Introduction 84

5.2 Key themes related to discontinuity 84
Language 85
Academic expectations 87
| Pedagogy | 88 |
| Culture and context | 90 |

5.3 Overcoming discontinuities  92

5.4 Motivational factors  93
   * Intrinsic motivation  93
   * Funds of knowledge  95
   * Self-efficacy  95
   * Agency  96
   * Self-regulated learning  96
   * Extrinsic motivation  97

5.5 Support systems  97
   * Family  98
   * The institution  99
   * Teacher educators  99
   * Classmates  100
   * Colleagues  101
   * Macro support  102

5.6 Summary  102

Chapter Six: Conclusions and Recommendations  104

6.1 Introduction  104

6.2 Summary of key findings  104

6.3 Limitations  105

6.4 Suggestions for further research  106

6.5 Recommendations and Implications  107
   * Implications for institutions  107
   * Recommendations for institutions  108
   * Implications for teacher educators  108
   * Recommendations for teacher educators  108
   * Potential benefits for participants  109

6.6 Personal response to the research  109

References  111
Appendices

Appendix A: Interview Schedule  125
Appendix B: Information Sheet – Participants  126
Appendix C: Participant Consent Form – Individual  128
Appendix D: Institution Consent Form  129
Appendix E: Information Sheet – Institution  130
Appendix F: Authority for the Release of Transcripts  132
Appendix G: Example of Transcript  133
Table of Figures

Figure 5 (1): Spiral of Life-Long Learning 94