

Copyright is owned by the Author of the thesis. Permission is given for a copy to be downloaded by an individual for the purpose of research and private study only. The thesis may not be reproduced elsewhere without the permission of the Author.

Rosemary Mortimer

RISING UP – RUNNING OUT
An Exploration of Oil

An exegesis presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Design

2012

Rosemary Mortimer

RISING UP – RUNNING OUT

An Exploration of Oil

Acknowledgements

With grateful thanks to the many people who have helped me on my journey through the world of oil.

My partner Tim, for his practical help, support and encouragement.
My friends and family, Anna, James, Bex and Maia, for their understanding while I was 'missing in action'.

My supervisors, Lisa Munnely and Emma Febvre-Richards, for their perceptive and invaluable input into my project.
Julieanna Preston, for her thought-provoking wisdom.
Staff, technicians and my fellow students at Massey University for all their assistance.

I would also like to thank the following individuals and organisations. Their generosity in allowing access to their facilities has been instrumental in the development of my work.

Joseph Coyle, New Zealand Petroleum & Minerals
Dan Willmott, New Zealand Petroleum & Minerals, Core Store
Bain Webster, Webster Drilling & Exploration Ltd
Zane Bruce, GNS Science
Kelvin Taylor, Taylor Property Plus

and many others who helped along the way, some of whom prefer to remain nameless.

Contents

1	Introduction
4	Forces and Voices Material Journeys Beauty and Bleakness
14	Core Samples The Core Store Breath and Blood
30	Fossils of the Oil Age Peak oil Synchronicities
48	Crude Transgressions
60	A Landscape of Oil
74	Guys Body Shop
82	Conclusion
84	Image Credits
86	Bibliography
	Appendix I: Material Investigations

Core samples, New Zealand Petroleum and Minerals Core Store.