Copyright is owned by the Author of the thesis. Permission is given for a copy to be downloaded by an individual for the purpose of research and private study only. The thesis may not be reproduced elsewhere without the permission of the Author.
Counting the Cost:
The Impact of the South African War 1899-1902
on New Zealand Society

Fig. 1. Richard J. Seddon and Lord Kitchener.

A thesis presented in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Arts in History at Massey University.

Nigel Robson
2012
Acknowledgements

I would like to thank the following people for their support, advice, and kind assistance during the completion of this thesis: Basil Poff, Richard Bourne, Brian Robson, Brian Eddy, Richard Towers, Ashley Gould, Becky Masters, Emma Lefley, Dolores Ho, Cliff Rogers, Heidi Kuglin, Ron Palenski, Christopher Pugsley, Anna Cable, John Martin, Zabeth Botha, Jane Bloore, Lachlan Paterson, Te Maari Wright, Peter Attwell, Faith Goodley, Laeonie Gallahar, Ellen Ellis, Helen Hogan, Jane Teal, Anne Jackman, Sarah Pōhatu, Martin Collett, Gordon Maitland, Keith Giles, Patrick Parsons, Karel Kaio and Basil Keane.

Additionally, I would like to thank the Hōhepa family for kindly allowing me to use the photo of Āhere Hōhepa; Natalie Edwards and the Thomson family for permitting the inclusion of their photo of William (Dinah) Thomson; and Te Amohaere Hauiti-Parapara of the Waitangi Tribunal for her assistance in translating articles from Māori language newspapers.

I am also very grateful for the advice and assistance that I have received from David Retter who has generously shared both his time and his extensive knowledge of the National Library of New Zealand and its collections. David has provided me with material that I could not have accessed without returning to New Zealand, and his comments, encouragement and suggestions have proved invaluable.

I owe a special debt of gratitude to Janice Russell and Penny Gilmore of the Massey University library staff, and to my supervisor, Dr James Watson. James has given his time and advice freely, shared his voluminous knowledge, and shown an enormous degree of flexibility. His kindness, assistance, guidance and erudition have made this thesis possible and for that I am deeply grateful.

Finally, I must thank my wife, Jo Young-hae. Without her unwavering encouragement, support and understanding I would never have attempted my Master’s degree, and would most definitely never have completed it.
Table of Contents

Acknowledgements

Table of Contents

Figures

Abbreviations

Introduction

Chapter 1  Contestation over the War

Chapter 2  Māori and the War

Chapter 3  News of the War

Chapter 4  The Human Cost of the War

Chapter 5  The Economic Impact of the War

Chapter 6  The War, Militarisation and the Myth of the ‘Natural’ New Zealand Soldier

Chapter 7  Conclusion

Bibliography
Figures

Fig. 1 Richard J. Seddon and Lord Kitchener.

Fig. 2 A New Testament that belonged to Private Harry Head of the Fifth Contingent. Head gave his religion as Church of England on his Attestation Form.

Fig. 3 Notice placed by Charlotte Bewicke in the Auckland Star in 1899.

Fig. 4 Notice placed by Charlotte Bewicke in the Observer in 1899 listing contributors to her ‘Sick and Wounded Boers’ Fund.

Figs. 5A-5B Observer cartoons depicting Captain Jansen of the Salvation Army refusing to hoist the Union Jack on the flagpole of the Waihi Salvation Army barracks during celebrations for the relief of Mafeking, and then being assaulted with eggs when he opened the window to explain the situation to the angry crowd.

Fig. 6 Cartoon from the Observer Christmas Annual depicting James Carroll, the Minister of Native Affairs and MHR for Waiapu, and Sir Joseph Ward, Deputy Prime Minister and MHR for Awarua, reacting to news of the 1902 British victory.

Fig. 7 Airini Donnelly, the influential Ngāti Kahungunu who was one of the first women to actively support New Zealand’s military involvement in South Africa in 1899.

Fig. 8 Āhere Te Koari Hōhepa in his Volunteers’ uniform. Hōhepa, who served in the Jubilee contingent, enrolled in the Third Contingent under the name Arthur Joseph.

Fig. 9 A notice that appeared in the Otago Daily Times in December 1900 seeking applications for the Sixth Contingent.

Fig. 10 Farrier Sergeant William Thomson who served in both the Fourth and Ninth Contingents.

Fig. 11 The East Coast rangitira, Tuta Nihoniho, in his Ngāti Porou Rifles captain’s uniform.

Fig. 12 Poverty Bay Herald advertisement for the Grand Maori Carnival.
Fig. 13  Seated, left to right: Colonel Hanbury Williams, Sir Alfred Milner, Field Marshal Lord Roberts, General Ian Hamilton - Cape Town, December 1900.

Fig. 14  Porourangi, the mere gifted to Field Marshal Earl Roberts by Tuta Nihoniho following the death of Roberts’ son in the battle of Colenso.

Fig. 15  A John Elder Moultray sketch that appeared in the Otago Witness depicting members of the First Contingent on board the Waikere en route to South Africa.

Fig. 16  War correspondent James Arthur Shand.

Fig. 17  Trooper Claude Lockhart Jewell.

Fig. 18  Advertisement for a Wellington public meeting held to express support for the Imperial Government’s actions in South Africa.

Fig. 19  Trooper Patrick Buckley Fitzherbert, Roberts’ Horse.

Fig. 20  Sergeant-Major Duncan Blair, Second New Zealand Contingent.

Fig. 21  Corporal Joseph Robinson Orford, Fourth New Zealand Contingent.

Fig. 22  Lieutenant John Eglinton Montgomerie, Second New Zealand Contingent.

Fig. 23  The envelope of a June 1901 letter sent by Private Robert Lawrence of the Seventh Contingent to George Scott in Dunedin. The envelope was posted in Standerton in Transvaal and bears a ‘Passed by Censor Johannesburg’ stamp.

Fig. 24  A postcard sent by Trooper Bert Stevens to his father. The card took forty-one days to reach New Zealand.

Fig. 25  A John Elder Moultray sketch depicting members of the First Contingent reading a newspaper following their arrival in South Africa. Soldiers’ letters often mentioned the men receiving New Zealand newspapers.

Fig. 26  Cover of William Francis Aitken’s 1900 book, Baden-Powell, the Hero of Mafeking.

Fig. 27  Edward Jollie, British South African Police.
Fig. 28 Captain John Allen Harvey, No.3341, New Zealand Fourth Contingent. John Harvey was thirty-one years old when he was killed.

Fig. 29 A Colonist article about Alan Saunders who was probably the youngest New Zealander to serve in the South African War.

Fig. 30 Trooper Leslie Seton Melville, Border Mounted Rifles.

Fig. 31 Hugh Melville, Border Mounted Rifles.

Fig. 32 Trooper Patrick Lee.

Fig. 33 Rupert Vivian Hosking, Protectorate Regiment.

Fig. 34 Private Edward Moore.

Fig. 35 Lieutenant Piers Tudor.

Fig. 36 Private Bertie Willis.

Fig. 37 John Evelyn Duigan.

Fig. 38 Friedlander Bros Ltd advertisement for oats to fill an Imperial Government contract.

Fig. 39 ‘Tons upon tons of oats for Tommy’s faithful friends, at De Aar, S. Africa.’

Fig. 40A Graph showing the top five New Zealand export products to Cape Town and Natal by value -1899.

Fig. 40B Graph showing the top five New Zealand export products to Cape Town and Natal by value – 1900.

Fig. 40C Graph showing the top five New Zealand export products to Cape Town and Natal by value -1901.

Fig. 40D Graph showing the top five New Zealand export products to Cape Town and Natal by value -1902.

Fig. 41 Graph showing total foreign exports from the ports of Invercargill and Bluff from 1898 to 1910, and exports to South Africa shipped from the same ports during this period.
Department of Agriculture advertisement seeking horses for the First Contingent.

Graph comparing the value of goods exported from ports in the North Island and South Island of New Zealand to Cape Colony and Natal from 1899-1910. The figures include exports to Orange River Colony and Transvaal Colony following the reannexation of these regions in 1902.

Graph showing the value of goods exported from New Zealand to Cape Colony and Natal during the fifteen year period from 1896-1910.

An Evening Post advertisement for the Goldsmiths’ and Silversmiths’ Depot in Wellington.

A 1½d postage stamp produced by the Post and Telegraph Department in 1900 in recognition of New Zealand’s contribution to the war effort.

A Souvenir of New Zealand’s Response to the Empire’s Call, a publication produced by Malcolm Ross in 1900.

Net issues in pounds sterling from the Consolidated Fund for the South Africa Contingents for the financial years from 1900-1903.

Summary showing the number of adult Volunteers who qualified for capitation, 1897-1903.

The 138 boys of the First and Second Companies of the Wanganui Collegiate Cadet Corps photographed at the rifle range butts in 1902.

Members of the Parnell Lady Cadets in 1901.

A cartoon featuring Major Loveday that appeared in the Observer in 1908.

A 1901 Auckland Weekly News photo of the Marsden Mounted Rifles, including women members, some of whom may be Māori.

A 1902 photo of Trooper Bert Stevens, No. 5118, A Squadron, Eighth New Zealand Mounted Rifles Contingent, probably with his mother, Delia Stevens, and his younger brother, Howard Waldo Stevens.

Trooper Conrad Gordon Saxby.
Fig. 56  Members of a Boer commando outside the Town Hall in York Street, Newcastle, Natal.  154

Fig. 57  The Cape Colony town of Worcester.  156

Fig. 58  Trooper William George Lammas, Seventh Contingent.  168

Fig. 59  The logo of the South African War Veterans’ Association.  169

Fig. 60  Delegates representing branches of the South African War Veterans’ Association at their annual conference in Wellington, July 1937.  170

Fig. 61  Louisa Jane Seddon, with her husband, Prime Minister Richard John Seddon, laying a foundation stone for the South African War memorial in Ross, West Coast. Photograph taken circa 1903.  171

Fig. 62  South African War memorial tablet in the entrance hall of the Ranfurly Veterans’ Home, Auckland.  171

Fig. 63  Memorial window in the original Wanganui Collegiate chapel commemorating Leslie Seton Melville, Walter Douglas Armstrong and Campbell Parkinson ‘who died in the discharge of their duty’. The window was unveiled by the Bishop of Wellington on 25 November 1901.  172
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Abbreviation</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>AJHR</td>
<td>Appendix to the Journals of the House of Representatives of New Zealand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ANZ</td>
<td>Archives New Zealand, Wellington, New Zealand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ATL</td>
<td>Alexander Turnbull Library, Wellington, New Zealand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AWMM</td>
<td>Auckland War Memorial Museum</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DIA NZBDM</td>
<td>Department of Internal Affairs, New Zealand Births, Deaths, and Marriages</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HL</td>
<td>Hocken Library</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KAB</td>
<td>Cape Town Archives Repository</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MHR</td>
<td>Member of the House of Representatives</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAM NZ</td>
<td>National Army Museum, New Zealand</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NAM UK</td>
<td>National Army Museum, London, United Kingdom</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NCW</td>
<td>National Council of Women</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NZDFPR</td>
<td>New Zealand Defence Force Personnel Records</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NZJH</td>
<td>New Zealand Journal of History</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NZOYB</td>
<td>New Zealand Official Year-book</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>NZPD</td>
<td>New Zealand Parliamentary Debates</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UPA</td>
<td>United Press Association</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SCNZ</td>
<td>Statistics of the Colony of New Zealand</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>